

International Congress Programme

The 29th German Prevention Congress will take place in Cottbus/Chósebz in Brandenburg, Germany, on 10th and 11th of June 2024.

Next to various other topics in the broad field of violence and crime prevention, the 2024 congress in Cottbus is dedicated to the topic "Security in change".

Security is a central concept and reference point in violence and crime prevention. However, even if this term resonates with a sense of stability and constancy, both the meaning of the concept of security and the tasks involved in achieving security are undergoing considerable change. Changes are also taking place regarding the question of who is responsible for establishing the security of individuals and society. The German Prevention Congress aims to analyse and discuss how security is currently understood and what the current challenges are.
